Furaya sisters to headline Montgomery concert

The next concert in the Grand Montgomery Chamber Music Series features the Furaya sisters who will perform Sunday, Nov. 1 at 3 p.m.

The Furaya Sisters have performed in the great concert halls of the United States and Europe: Carnegie Hall (NY), C. Michael Paul Hall and Alice Tully Hall at Lincoln Center (NY), Dvorak Hall (Prague), Liszt Academy (Budapest), Royal British Legion (Cambridge), Westminster Abbey (London), The United Nations (NY), Chopin's House (Valldemosa, Spain), Morse Recital Hall (NY), Wiener Saal and Lehrerhaus (Austria), Chopin Kosciuszko Foundation (NY), Lehman Hall at Harvard University (Cambridge, MA), Kilbourn Hall (Rochester, NY), Stanford University's Dinkelspiel Auditorium (CA), De Lamar Mansion (NY), and Steinway Hall (NY).

The three talented Furaya Sisters — cellist Mimi, pianist Sakiko, and violinist Harumi — were each a child prodigy, with Harumi beginning her studies at age 2, and Mimi and Sakiko making their respective debuts at age 8. Their original compositions have been performed many times at Juilliard.

All graduates of the Juilliard School, the Furaya Sisters have gone on to further studies at universities such as the Eastman School of Music, the Robert Schumann Hochschule in Düsseldorf, Germany, the Mozarteum and the University of Salzburg in Austria, Harvard University, Sciences Po Paris, Humboldt University, and University of Cambridge.

Sunday's program will feature Johann Sebastian Bach's Suite for Solo Cello No. 3 in C major and Allemanda from Partita for Solo Violin
